

NOKONA[®]
AMERICAN BALLGLOVES
SINCE 1926

Celebrating

100 years

NOKONA WAS FOUNDED IN 1926 IN A SMALL TEXAS TOWN ALONG THE FAMED CHISHOLM TRAIL

—handcrafting premium leather goods in a region known for its cattle and hides.
What started with wallets and purses soon became Nocona Athletic Goods—and in 1934, our president, Big Bob Storey, saw a new opportunity: baseball.

We wanted to put the company name on each glove, but were denied by the U.S.
Trademark Office. So, Big Bob replaced
the “C” in Nocona with a “K.” And the rest, as they say, is history.

What truly sets us apart is our people—the skilled craftsmen and women who cut, stitch, stamp, and lace each Nokona with care. Gloves that are cherished by generations of players at all levels.
Nokona is committed to producing premium ballgloves and leather goods—steeped in American heritage with a focus on quality, performance, and timeless beauty.

WORK presents two st the great

My entire baseball career lasted some 34 years and Nokona was the glove I used from start to finish.

Some of the finest people I know, produce the finest baseball glove made.

Both have served me well. I can look back on that day back in 1949 when we stopped in Docona Texas, with very fond memories

Carroll Deringer

Dear Carrie,

I could not be more pleased with the repair work that was done. Your team took a 22-year-old glove it and gave it new life. The overall workmanship and the ability to retain some of the original materials on the glove is simply amazing.

Sincerely,
Jim Meduri - Ravenna, Ohio

Hi! My name is Kacey and I wanted to let you know how much joy my Nokona glove brought me over the years. My Dad (who has since passed away) bought it for me when I was playing college ball. I was able to use it from the very first day. Easiest glove I've ever had to break in. Thank you Nokona!

Nokona Team - I just finished a 4 year college career as a center-fielder. I used the same glove my whole career. Led my senior season with a 1.000 fielding percentage and had parents calling me "Roomba" because i caught everything while my teammates yelled "no fly zone" every catch. Thank you, thank you, thank you! - Bianca

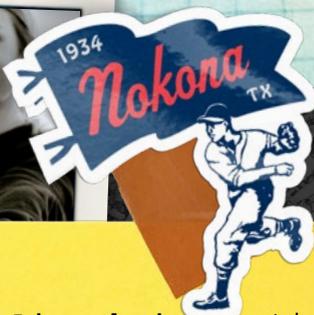

The only baseball glove contract I ever signed in my long playing career was with Nokona in 1949. Since I played more than one position in my years in baseball I had more than one style of gloves. I used the "Bum-Bag" which was the catcher mitt along with the first base man's glove and both infield and outfield gloves. Carl Erskine who played with the Ft Worth Cats in the Texas League endorsed a model for pitchers call the "Whit Muddie" I believe.

Sincerely,
Neil Williams

Ms. Pike,
I now have a 10 year old grandson in Little League and I'm living my passion for the game through him. I have been aware of the Nokona glove reputation for some time now, but have never owned one. Never too late! Just recently I purchased an Alpha S-2 32" Catcher's Mitt and a Bloodline Edge P6-1150 I-Web. He absolutely loves the Catcher's Mitt and it has definitely improved his game. Your company being the only Ball Glove maker in the USA is very important to lots of folks

Best regards,
J. Brooks

I have also become a 'victim' of the 'Nokona Glove Collecting Fever' and have purchased 6 previously owned gloves. Some are absolutely beautiful and lightly used. The others are just good ole gloves with character (classics). It's amazing how many folks are out there buying up these older gloves!!! It's FUN.

- J. Brooks

DATE _____ NOTES
I signed with Nokona Glove Company in 1954 and besides, I was the only Flatwater City to be signed on that club. I couldn't have known any better family than the Storey family to do business with - they always seem to bend over backwards to be hospitable. I have my first glove in mint condition framed with the original big label and signature - thank the Storey family is a history of hard work and no one is more deserving. Sincerely, Janet Spork Jan 1954

I thought you would like a note letting the Nokona folks know how an old folk feels. You see, in the early spring of 1950 my Dad took me to the local sporting goods store so I could purchase a ball glove for the summer league. I had worked all winter long saving money, I collected papers and bundled them until I had the shed in the back pasture full, then my Dad would call the paper collector and he would weigh my paper and give me so much per pound. As I remember my glove cost me about $12.00.

What is so important about this story is I was 8 years old in 1950 and I still have the glove and still use it to this day, I play ball with the little ones, I am now 73 years old. Nothing I have is prized more than that NOKONA glove, the memories attached can never be replaced. I can only hope that when I do pass on, a little one in the family will pick it up and use the way I have. Oh the memories!!!!!!! Thanks for making such a wonderful glove for me so many years ago.
